BUSINESS MANAGER'S REPORT

Work right now is very slow. For the first time in recent memory, Dispatcher Dan Chivello reported that there were three consecutive days when there were no job calls in Alameda or San Joaquin County. We do not expect this slowdown to persist, but there are work opportunities in our surrounding sister locals. If you need to, please see one of our office staff for a travel letter.

Thanks to our sister locals that are also helping to put our out-of-work apprentices on jobs in their areas. For our traveling apprentices, we know that you will continue to represent Local 595 well. I have received a number of calls from employers in other areas remarking on the great attitude and abilities of our apprentices. Please keep up the great work, and know that we are doing our best to get you working back in Alameda County.

Economic Slowdown

We expect a number of projects to put our members back to work later this spring, but the recent economic downturn is affecting our industry. Signatory contractors have called me, concerned by the number of non-union electrical contractors who have been driven from the residential market, and are now showing up to compete for commercial projects.

The subprime home mortgage debacle has had an impact on financial institutions worldwide, creating economic turmoil and uncertainty. Lack of confidence in U.S. financial institutions have plummeted the value of the U.S. dollar across the globe. Who would have thought that the Canadian dollar would be worth more than the U.S. dollar, or that the euro would be worth 1.5 times more than a U.S. dollar?

The very sudden turn of events in the U.S. economy has resulted in more workers unemployed, increasing home foreclosures, and rising fuel and energy costs. Our construction projects in the Bay Area will help our industry fend off some of the worst aspects of this downturn, but we will be slow for a few more months in both Alameda and San Joaquin counties.

Laborers Efforts Opposed

Recently, there were efforts by the Laborers to amend California's electrician certification regulations that would have weakened the law, allowing non-certified workers to do electrical installations that IBEW members have historically performed. Their efforts sought to restrict the need for certified electricians only to the task of "connecting electrical devices".

This way of thinking would allow non-certified workers to do a whole array of electrical installations, and confine the electrician to the final connection of a receptacle or switch. This is why the Laborers put into their scope of work "electrical conduit" and "telecommunications conduit" into their master agreements, for the first time, just two years ago.

Because the Laborers are paid at a lesser wage and benefit rate, this is a dangerous race to the bottom that the IBEW opposes.

I asked members to help, and we collected over 400 letters opposing this effort. Along with letters from other IBEW locals, as well as evidence from the National Fire Protection Agency (NFPA) and National Electrical Manufacturers Association (NEMA), we are hopeful that the regulatory agency overseeing state certification will not allow the Laborer's proposals to pass.

Many thanks to our members who helped in this effort. We expect an on-going fight over conduit and other electrical work.

Fifth Anniversary of Iraq War

I am writing this report on the fifth anniversary of the Iraq War, and I find it necessary to offer a few words of reflection.

When the Bush administration was rushing us to war in 2003, the Alameda County Building Trades Council passed a resolution urging diplomacy, opposed the policy of pre-emptive war, and called for diplomatic solutions to the Iraq crisis. While acknowledging the emotions stemming from the terrorist attacks of 9/11, Congresswoman Barbara Lee also urged restraint and diplomacy. Her lone vote against expanded war powers for President Bush was virulently attacked by many as anti-American. Her vote now stands as a courageous act of a thoughtful and principled leader, as the justification for the war - alleged weapons of mass destruction and a nuclear armaments program - have been shown to be baseless fabrications.

We are now approaching 4,000 military personnel killed, tens of thousands of wounded men and women, and inadequate resources to assist our returning veterans. The war has inflicted hundreds of thousands of Iraqi casualties, our country's standing as a moral force for good in the world has been damaged, and the Nobel Prize-winning economist Joseph Stiglitz has estimated that the financial cost will be more than three trillion dollars.

There is a direct relation between the economic, social and political well-being of our nation and the Iraq War. Let us elect a new leadership in 2008 that has the courage and leadership necessary to end the war, and to bring our troops home.

Remembering Jon Gibson

In closing, I want to remember Jon Gibson, who passed away on February 25. I had the honor of working with Jon at the Lawrence Berkeley Lab a number of years ago - he was an incredibly intelligent, thoughtful and dedicated electrician. Jon gave of his time to teaching and sharing his knowledge at our apprenticeship program, and we are a better Local because of his many contributions. He will be missed. Our deepest condolences go to his wife, Karen, and sons Rob, Martin and Josh.

Finally, our best wishes to Marv Jensen and his family. Marv has been diagnosed with inoperable cancer, and he is at home with hospice care. His wife, Margaret, asks that his friends visit, as Marv enjoys the company and time with others.

My best wishes to you and your family,

Alameda JATC News

Spring finds the program busy with outreach efforts throughout Alameda County. The following is a list of recent opportunities taken to raise the awareness of Union Electrical Apprenticeship in our community: Laney College, Dublin High School, Newark Memorial High School, Oakland High School, Mission Valley ROP, San Leandro / Oakland Job Fair and Youth Uprising Job Fair

A special thank you goes out to apprentices Rachel Bryan and Mike Whitfield along with IBEW Local 595 retiree Les Bridge for their assistance.

Continuing Education

Continuing Education (CE) registrations for Spring 2008 classes have been tremendous. As of March 14, 2008 the program has received 363 registrations for courses that will count towards the California State requirement of 32 hours of CE for the purpose of Electrician Re-Certification. These CE course registrations calculate to 6,392 actual classroom hours and represent 28% of all classroom instruction taking place at the Training Center this semester.

On February 19, 2008 the program received a visit from National JATC Director Marty Riesberg. The purpose of Marty's trip from Maryland was to view the recently completed Building Automation Systems lab. The following was a quote from his experience:

"I think the Alameda JATC has an unparalleled Building Automation lab. The fact that they have the ability to train with both Lon Works and BACnet is a testament to the visionaries at their JATC. This will prove to be an invaluable tool in training the IBEW workforce and the NECA contractors in the bay area."

Our program continues to receive national recognition for our member's commitment to training, and the quality of our training programs.

Jon Gibson Remembered

IBEW Local 595 and the Alameda County Electrical Apprenticeship lost a treasured friend with the passing of Jon Gibson on February 25, 2008. Jon was a dedicated and talented Instructor with our program for 20 years. Students remember him as a kind and caring person while being an excellent motor control Electrician and Teacher.

Jon always made himself available to his students and the program. Numerous IBEW Local 595 Apprentices and Journeymen have benefited tremendously from his wealth of knowledge. Many continue to reap the rewards of Jon's presence as a result of the Training Center's motor control lab designed exclusively by him in 2003.

A memorial celebration for Jon will take place on April 26, 2008 on Wilton Drive in Oakland beginning at 2 PM. On behalf of all of us at the Alameda County Electrical JATC Apprenticeship we want to thank Jon's wife Karen and sons Rob, Martin and Joshua for sharing this wonderful Instructor, Mentor and Friend with us.

Stockton JATC News

I would like to welcome Ingrid Harder to the San Joaquin & Calaveras JATC. Ingrid is a graduate of the Stockton apprenticeship and the first female journey person to be appointed to the JATC committee. I would also like to thank Mike Sisneroz for his commitment and dedication to the JATC over the past six years. Serving as a committee member is important to maintain the quality of education and development of our apprentices and the future of our industry. Thanks Ingrid and Mike.

I am proud to announce the welding lab is now operational thanks to retired 595 member Robert Tuchszen and the fifth year apprenticeship class. The Stockton fifth year class was very anxious to have an opportunity to learn how to weld this semester so Bob and the class installed a new feeder and conduit from the main service to a new panel in the welding lab and wired the lab to make it operational over four class sessions.

A note of appreciation to Bob Tuchszen and the fifth year class of David Richmond, Nick Hustrulid, Matt Ferroni, Mike Pera, Rex Rodgers, David Hale, Mike Gillet, Ron Mendoza, and Destyne Gastello. We plan to incorporate the welding into Continuing Education for State Certification in the near future.

Speaking of Continuing Education, the spring classes will be concluding soon and attendance has been good for most classes. We will be preparing a new mailer to be sent out in the next two weeks. In trying to meet the wants and needs of the membership we would be glad to have input from members as to any classes they would wish to attend. The planned solar and fire alarm labs will not be completed until the fall semester

595's Osborne Wins Bass Tourny

Congratulations to 595's Don Osborne, who won the Lake Casitas Heavyweight Bass Classic earlier this year. The "biggest-bass-takes-all" event was won on his first cast, according to The Orange County Register.

"The Castro Valley angler pulled up to the Lake Casitas shoreline in a spot called the airstrip and made his first cast Friday morning in the Heavyweight Bass Championship...

"On his third crank of the reel, Osborne hooked up and went on to land a 10.52-pound largemouth bass...

"He earned a $10,000.00 check and a custom-made HBC belt, something akin to what a heavy weight boxing champ would receive, but without the bling."

Good going Don!

Retiree Club Report

Our Retirees Club's annual St. Patrick's Day luncheon was held on March 14 at 595's Dublin Hall. Quite appropriate! The menu included corned beef and cabbage, breaded tilapia, rice, potatoes, fresh green salad as well as fresh fruit salad, dinner rolls, and carrot cake with green and white icing. All this for our new low price of $5! Entertainment featured a terrific Irish tenor's rendition of Irish favorites. In addition, a lucky couple won a trip for two to "Phantom of the Opera" in Sacramento. Every once in awhile, we have a surprise FREE LUNCH, on secret dates throughout the year.

Our next luncheon is on April 11. You can now see additional news about our club on the 595 website. We hope that ALL our retirees will become members of our club.

Dues are only $15 per year, per person. For information about joining, contact Linda at: (510) 537-4129 or email her at: LBRATSET@yahoo.com.

Organizer's Report

IBEW 595 welcomes the following "traveling" electrical contractors who have become signatory to the Inside Wireman Agreement since our last newsletter: Auburn Power Electric located in Auburn; Colfax contractor All Action Electric; Elco Electric Inc. from San Jose that does a variety of work and will be doing several retail projects in this area; Total Electric Inc. which has a project at Cargill Salt Co and is from Wichita, Kansas; TAC Americas Inc. which recently purchased the Northern California branch of Yamas Controls.

Dave Nelson reports that Stealth Networks has recently become signatory to the Sound & Communication Agreement. Stealth is taking over the ongoing low voltage maintenance work at Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory that was formerly done by a non-union company. Stealth has hired six IBEW 595 members for this work and one Stealth Networks employee has come into membership in IBEW 595.

Sam Kharufeh, our new Organizer for the Stockton area, wishes to thank those members who have been providing him with information in order to help our organizing efforts. Sam is forming an Organizing Committee which currently has 18 members.

Dave and Sam recently completed the COMET Train the Trainer class as well as a five day Organizer Training which was held in January.

Blight in Oakland - The City Walk project, where non-union Helix Electric was working, has been sitting idle since July 2007. It is now being wrapped by its developer, the Olson Company, its future uncertain.

PLA at Chabot College

Another clear example of the value that we receive from Project Labor Agreements occurred recently at Chabot College. The $14 million Instructional Office Building looked as though it would be awarded to non-signatory Delta Electric from Oakland. After becoming aware of the requirements of the Chabot/Las Positas PLA, Delta chose to withdraw their bid. This project was eventually awarded to our signatory contractor Wilhite Electric.

We want to thank Bob Daoust for once again presenting the "Getting Started in Electrical Contracting" class. This well attended class lays out the fundamentals of starting an electrical contracting business. This is the third time that this eight night class has been presented. This excellent class has seen twelve attendees go on to become electrical contractors. All who attend leave with a much better understanding of what it takes to be an IBEW contractor.

Matt Maloon, Director of Organizing

Union Labor Life Investing in All-Union Project

The Union Labor Life Insurance Company (ULLICO) is building an all-union project at 222 Broadway, just blocks away from Oakland's Jack London Square. The electrical for this $96 million project is being done by Cupertino Electric, and is putting many Local 595 members to work.

The 16 story, 134 unit luxury condominium building has five stories of parking and 9,529 square feet of retail space. Financed by ULLICO's J for Jobs account, the investment calls for all work, including tenant improvements, to be done by contractors that have collective bargaining agreements with the Building and Construction Trades Department of the AFL-CIO.

ULLICO's J for Jobs is investing in communities across the country. The investment has been a smart one for ULLICO. Over the ten years of J for Job's investments, the portfolio has had a net return of over 7%.

Union labor is building strong communities and strong returns.

Important Notice

Effective July 1, 2008, the administration of the Local 595 Trust Funds will change, from Marana Benefits Administration to Zenith Administrators.

The Union Trustees have been engaged in a careful review and comparison of three third party administrators, including our current administrator, for several months.

At their last Trust meetings, together with the Employer Trustees, Zenith was unanimously selected. Zenith is based in San Francisco, but will assign one employee to work at Local 595's Union Hall to assist members with their benefits administration.

Important Notice

The Plan Administration Office requests assistance in contacting the following individuals who are owed funds from the plan office. They should call Marana Benefits Administration at 1-800-498-6080.
